

Asst. Prof. Iva Šklempe Kokić, PhD

Iva Šklempe Kokić, PhD, is an Assistant Professor in the field of Biomedicine and Health (Clinical Medicine) at the Faculty of Kinesiology, Josip Juraj Strossmayer University of Osijek, Croatia. She holds degrees in Physiotherapy and Kinesiology and earned her PhD in Applied Kinesiology from the University of Primorska in Koper, Slovenia. Dr. Šklempe Kokić is a registered physiotherapist in Croatia and a Chartered Physiotherapist in the United Kingdom. She is also an exercise scientist and professional, registered as an Advanced Health and Exercise Specialist with the European Register of Exercise Professionals. She has authored and co-authored a large number of scientific articles, presented at international conferences, collaborated on several international projects, and led multiple clinical trials. Furthermore, she has served as a member of scientific committees and as a reviewer for numerous scientific journals. Her main scientific interests include women's health, metabolic health, exercise physiology, and therapeutic exercise.